REFLECTIVE BELIEVING AND INTERFAITH DIALOGUE

IAMSR PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT WORKSHOP
WORKSHOP LEARNING

• We will learn how reflective believing can be carried out within a spiritually and religiously pluralist research community in management and organization studies.

• You will receive support and methods for integrating spiritual and religious faith into their research.

• We also may meet other researchers with whom to pursue dialogical research focused on a topic of mutual interest.
SCIENTIFIC METHOD

Theory ↔ Data
REFLECTIVE BELIEVING

Tradition

Theory ↔ Data
REFLECTIVE BELIEVING

Data → Deduction → Theory → Induction / Abduction → Theory Building and Testing → Framing

Practice

Renewal

Contextualization

Explanation

Tradition
REFLECTIVE BELIEVING: PRACTICE

1. Choose a management or organizational setting of interest to you.
   – From your faith perspective, what is at stake in this setting?
   – What are the possibilities for renewing practice?

2. How would you frame the topic theoretically?
   – How does your faith inform your framing?

3. How could you study the topic empirically?
   – How can you bring your faith into the method and analysis?
INTERFAITH DIALOGUE: PRACTICE

Presenter

Share the management or organizational setting of interest to you.

- What does your faith help you to see in this setting?
- How does your faith open possibilities for renewing practice?

Listener

What new insights does the presenter’s faith perspective offer?

How might your own faith contribute to the presenter’s topic?
ARTICLES
